TESTIMONY IN THE HILTON CASE.

Attorney for Plaintiff is Called Down Very Emphatically by The Court.

"SEALING" STILL THE THEME.

Cross - Examination of C. W. Penrose Productive of Veritable Fusilade of Queries, Objections and Replies.

The cross-examination of Mr. C. W. Penrose in the Hilton-McCornick case was concluded in Judge Hall's court yesterday afternoon, but counsel for the defense desired to present a further question to the witness, so the case was continued until Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock at which time Mr. Penrose will again be placed on the witness stand. Several lively encounters occurred between the witness and Atty. Jones during the cross-examination and on one occasion the court found it necessary to rebuke the attorney for his uncalled for attack upon the witness. Atty. Stewart interposed many objections to the manner in which the attorney for plaintiff conducted the crossexamination, several of which were sustained by the court.

One of the first questions asked in the afternoon was in relation to section 132 of the Doctrine and Covenants. Mr. Jones asked whether that was a law to the Church. The attorney wanted a direct answer, "yes" or "no," but the witness replied:

"It is a law to the Church according to its own language and import; that is my answer.

The court allowed the answer to go into the record.

Attorney Jones attempted to get the witness to reply to questions comparing the weight of his opinions to that of the utterances of Church authorities but the witness said he had given no opinions of Church authorities. the witness said he had given no opinions of Church doctrines or ordinances in this court, and the Judge ruled the question out as improper. The attorney further put questions based on the presumption that the witness had testified that the Bible the Book of Mormon and the Doctrine and Covenants and the Pearl of Great Price were the only authorities in the Church on doctrine. The witness replied he had not made any such statement but had said they were the only WRITTEN standards, and had been so adopted by the Church.

Questioned as to whether the oral enunciation by President Woodruff as to the sealing of children to parents was authoritative, after the question was put in proper form, the witness answered yes, and stated further that it was by other than written standards he had been informed concerning the sealing ceremonies.

Artorney Jones strenuously objected to the latter part of this answer, but the court ruled that it should stand.

Another question by Attorney Jones was as to the number of forms of "sealings" there are relating to marriage.

"The court will take it upon itself to protect a witness on the stand," said Judge Hall, "just the same as it would an attorney or other officer of the court.

Don't you know that there are hundreds of people sealed for time and eternity who are not married in any other way?"

"They live and cohabit together?"

"Suppose a man and woman are sealed for time and eternity and co-habit together, do you understand under the law of the Church that they commit adultery!

"No sir, it would not be adultery," as the reply. "Have you ever witnessed a sealing r eternity?"

"Will you state some instance, when, where and who the parties were?" The witness declined to answer the question and was upheld in his action cross-examination was concluded, Atty. Stewart wished to ask some direct questions, but as they were objected to they were postponed until Monday morning at 9:30, to which time the case was continued.

During the cross-examination the During the cross-examination the witness was interrogated by Atty. Jones as to the probity of Daniel H. Wells and whether he could be likely to attempt to deceive. The answer was that Daniel H. Wells was a man of integrity and probity and would not do so wilfully and intentionally.

Manner in Which University Student Body Will Elect a President.

Considerable interest is being manifested at the University of Utah, over the election of a president of the student body, this having been made necessary by the adoption of a new constitution a day or two ago. The students, it is understood, have agreed to divide on party lines as per English politics. Accordingly, the Liberals got together this afternoon and mapped out a plan of campaign, Mr. Hopkins acting as chairman. This party is supporting Oscar W. Carlson, while it is said that the Conservatives will support Elbert Thomas. Government Survey Engineering Corps Returns for the Winter From the Uintah Work.

SOME TALL FISH STORIES.

Col. Dick Pleads Guilty to Catching 97 Trout in One and a Half Hours.

The advent of winter has brought eack to this city Engineers Brown, McKim, Trotter, Johnson, Dick and Merwin from their work of surveying on the Uintah reservation for the government. They had the work on the higher lands, and so are back earlier than other parties of surveyors who took the lowlands and valleys. The above surveyors were in the field for three months and covered 1,200 miles with the chain, about one-quarter of the reservation, or 612 square miles. The more northern part of the reservation was gone over, and the engineers had more tramping to do as they did not use the triangulation method not use the triangulation method of surveying which is in vogue with the geological survey. They return to complete their work in the spring. The engineers say that the country they "hoed over" looked as though the heavens had got real mad and rained rocks down all over the corrugated countenance of nature as fire and brimstone was rained down from heaven. tone was rained down from heaven on Sodom and Gomorrah. It was rocks on Sodom and Gomorrah. It was rocks to the left of them, rocks to the right of them, rocks, rocks, rocks, rocks, and around, and to spare. There were rocks enough to pave, it seemed, the entire state with trap block.

When asked if any of it was good for building purposes, they said the rock was badly broken by volcanic action; but it was a fair looking sandstone, and might do. But the best of it was at present in inaccessible places, and so was likely to remain undisturbed for centuries to come.

PLENTY OF WATER.

The elevations are something imposng, being 8,000 to 14,000 feet above sea evel, and consequently the climate is a trifle strenuous. In fact, it was altogether too stout for the surveyors to remain out there during the winter. However, it is a country worth settling up, as there is water, water everywhere—water that could and ought to be spared for transfer to the Salt Lake basin, where it is so much needed. In one place, six miles square, there are 52 lakes. The snow fail is very heavy, so that the natural reserv  s are always full. In fact, it was alays full. The fishing is something immense and the surveyors say they will be-ieve any fish story that is told of pis-catorial performances up there. Col. Dick went out himself one day and captured 97 trout in one and a haif hours; and it was not much of a day for travit either. "All you have got to hours; and it was not much of a day for trout either. "All you have got to do," he says, "is to throw your hook into the water, and trout will just scrap to see which one can hook on first. No trouble catching fish in that coun-

GOLD AND SOONERS.

While the soil of the valleys is sandy, there are such unparalleled opportuni there are such unparameter opportunities for irrigation, that a great variety and abundance of crops can be raised in the valleys. There is a great deal of timber in the hills which are numerous and lofty, if not positively supernumerous; and the facilities for grazing are all that could be desired. The indications for gold are very fair. The government does not allow the surveyors to do any prospecting, consequently no "startling array" of samples were "startling array" of samples were brought back, and no shafts were sunk. But the engineers saw enough of sur-face indications to convince them there is gold in the country, only that it will have to be dug for, and no nuggets will be found growing on bushes waiting to be picked. The engineers believe there be picked. The engineers believe there will be a big rush of settlers for the res-ervation when the government throws open next fall, as the there are such as to invite a good immi-gration. There are not a few sooners skylarking around the reservation now, but there is a squad of the Fifth cavalry on the ground from Fort Duchesne, rounding up these geniuses, and run ning them off the reservation.

WIRES ARE DOWN.

Those Between Here and San Fran cisco Crippled by the Storm.

The wires were all down between this city and San Francisco this morning on account of the storm, and at noon, it was uncertain how soon the connection with the coast could be restored. However, the communications with the north and east were not interfered with. This indicates that the heft of the storm prevailed to the west of this meridian. The total fall of rain in this city for the 24 hours ending this morning, was .97 of an inch, and while the sun did break through the clouds early in the afternoon, the advent of another low barometric area from the Pacific on the California coast led the weather forecaster in this city, to pre-dict more rain or snow for tonight and

At Conclusion of Reading He Affected A Smile and Thanked the Officers For Their Kindness.

(Special to the "News.") Cheyenne, Wyo., Nov. 13 .- Tom Horn has only one week to live and he has been notified of his approaching doom, that he may prepare for the end. This afternoon Sheriff E. J. Smalley and Under Sheriff R. A. Proctor, released Horn from his cell and the former in impressive tones read the death warrant. In substance the document was as follows: "That you, Tom Horn, convicted of the murder of William Nickell on July 18, 1901, be taken from your place of confinement in the county jail of Laramie county to some convenient spot close by where between the hours of 10 a. m. and 3 p. m. Horn listened to the reading of the fatal words in silence. His face took on an ashen hue at first, then a little color crept into his cheeks and his eyes flashed. His fists were clutched tightly and the muscles around his mouth twitched nervously. A great welt seemed to come up on the right side of his throat and there throbbed spasmodically.

He was clearly broken down in mind and body, but later he cheered up a bit as the thought came to him that perhaps the governor would save that perhaps the governor would save him from the gallows. The longevity of "In Old Kentucky" s the theatrical marvel of the day, Neither winds, rain, uprooted trees. floods at every street crossing, nor crip-pled streetcars, were sufficient last night to keep the usual immense throng away from the presentation. The owners of the popular old play are keen to realize that the value of their gold mine consists in their keeping up to the old standard, and it must be said that the rendition now is about as good as it ever was, and in some respects, notably that of the Pickaninny band, it is better the young coons brought down the house last night with their playing, and the usual thrilling episodes were received with the same gusts of favor. especially from the upper sections. The players were all capable, and the Un-cle Ned of Mr. Turner was especially good; Miss Barriscale won favor as Madge and Mr. Deyo was a clever Jo. "In Old Kentucky" will be seen for the last time tonight.

The sale is now going on at the Theater for "Pickwick," the musical play to be rendered by the DeWolf Hopper combpany at the Theater to-morrow afternoon and evening.

At the Grand last night the play entitled "In a Woman's Power," rendered by the Vidder company drew a fair sized house. The piece belongs on the stereotyped order of virtue in trouble, villainy temporarily triumphant, and the hero and heroine coming out on top in the long run. The players range from good to very bad, but the play is writ-ten for gallery consumption, and as those sections are not over critical, it goes tonight, tomorrow afternoon and evening, being succeeded Monday by the play "The Minister's Son."
